

We not only look upon the ocean as a scattering-absorbing medium which we can use to test and establish theory, but we also see the ocean as an unknown geophysical feature which we can optically explore and document.

John E. Tyler

A Survey of Experimental Hydrologic Optics

J. Quant. Spectr. Radiat..
Transfer 8, 339 (1968)